Exemptions

Many a housewife claims exemption from cooking breakfast and luncheon for hubby because it takes so long to fire up the stove in the morning and is so hot to cook in the middle of the day. Gentlemen, don't let your wife "get by" with any claim like that. She can be just as sweet and dainty as any wife ever was, and cook all three meals for you.

—That is, if she cooks with GAS. What's more, she'll save enough to pay for the gas range and pay the gas bill.

Try the change; you won't regret it!

FOUR-MINUTE TALKS TONIGHT OPEN FOOD WEEK

Four-minute talks at the Bijou and Liberty theaters this evening by former U. S. Judge Sanford B. Dole will serve to open Honolulu's "Food Pledge Week" campaign which is being conducted under the auspices of the territorial food commission, and through the woman's committee of that organization. The talks tonight will be along lines laid down by the national food administration in Washington, D. C. Tomorrow evening Chief Justice A. G. M. Robertson of the supreme court will speak.

The local campaign will be conducted in a manner similar to the recent Red Cross "drive." Captains will be named to take charge of each district, and each captain will have a corps of lieutenants to assist her. It is expected that the list of captains and lieutenants will be ready in time for the women to begin work early tomorrow morning.

It is planned to make a house-to-house canvass throughout the week, and each housewife will be asked to sign the card pledging herself to do her "bit" by assisting Uncle Sam to conserve the nation's food supply. The signed cards will be turned in to the office of the territorial food commission where they will be card indexed and catalogued.

The captains and lieutenants will have instructions to take the names and addresses of all women who decline to sign the cards, "because," an officer of the commission said today, "we want to know who are working with us and who are against us."

ATTORNEYS WANT ROBERTSON TO STAY ON BENCH

Honolulu's legal forces, it was reported today, are mobilizing in what is said to be a concerted effort to prevail upon Chief Justice A. G. M. Robertson of the supreme court to reconsider his intention of resigning from the bench if he has this intention in mind at the present time.

It is understood that prominent members of the legal fraternity are behind a movement to call a special meeting of the Hawaiian Bar Association to take such action as may tend to induce the chief justice from sending in his resignation, the motive being that, because of his brilliant career on the bench, his services as head of the trio of justices are indispensable.

Chief Justice Robertson told the Star-Bulletin today that, while he has been considering resigning for some time past, there is nothing definite as regards his future actions.

Statements expressing hope that Chief Justice Robertson will not leave the bench were heard in court circles today. As regards his successor, should he resign, it was pointed out that Associate Justice James L. Cooke has an excellent chance of being appointed.

STAR-BULLETIN FAMILY MEMBERS WELCOME VACATION TRAVELERS

Heads of departments and editorial staff members of the Star-Bulletin "family" were guests of the management on Saturday night at an informal "get-together" dinner in the gold room of the Young hotel.

Planned as a welcome home for several Star-Bulletin men who during their vacations this year visited the mainland and saw things there interesting to the newspaper and printing business, the dinner served also as a general exchange of ideas of benefit to the Star-Bulletin "family" in its ambition to widen and broaden constantly the character of its service to the public of Hawaii.

General Business Manager W. R. Farrington presided at the dinner. Harry S. Hayward, superintendent of the job printing and publishing department of the Star-Bulletin, spoke first on printing plants he had seen on his visit to California, and on suggestions to benefit printing service in Hawaii. Riley H. Allen, editor, followed him with a talk on newspaper conditions, newspaper aims and achievements as he had found them during a trip last summer that extended from Victoria, B. C. to New York and back out to San Francisco. He emphasized the great part that newspapers and newspapermen are playing in national patriotic service now.

Manuel Bisho, of the printing department, and Ben C. Stearns, head of the "ad alley," followed with brief talks on their coast vacation trips. Daniel Logan, dean of newspapermen in Hawaii, was called on for some reminiscences, and Charles F. Merrill contributed some funny stories.

Postmaster Farrington's talk dealt with the duty and opportunity of service for the Star-Bulletin under the special conditions arising from the war, and the part the newspaper and printing departments could play in national conservation. Other topics of interest primarily to the Star-Bulletin staff were touched upon.

During the evening the Russian orchestra played a number of much appreciated selections, including patriotic compositions.

DOUBLE TRACKING OF KING STREET TO START SOON

Work which is to be begun shortly by the Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co. will, when completed, leave King street double tracked from the Kahauiki boundary of the military reservation at Fort Shafter to McCully street, two blocks waikiki of Pawaa junction.

Within a few days the company will begin double tracking from Kawaiahao street, where the present double track ends, to Alapai street, and the rest of the work will be done just as quickly as the necessary equipment arrives here from the mainland. No estimate of the time it will take to complete the work can be given by the company at this time, owing to present shipping facilities and the difficulty in having orders for equipment filled on the mainland.

At present the double tracking on King street extends from the canefields just east of the Palama fire station to Kawaiahao street, near Kawaiahao church. Although no definite plans have been formulated yet, it is expected that, some time in the near future the company will double track from McCully street across the duck ponds and out along Kalkaaua avenue to the Waikiki terminus at the end of Kapiolani park.

The 10 new cars which were ordered by the company from a mainland concern some months ago will probably not arrive here until next April. These cars will be used to relieve congestion on King street, especially in the morning and late afternoons, when traffic is heavy, and on holidays. Some of the cars now on King street will be transferred to Hotel street.

KNITTING BAGS MADE BY MRS. WICHMAN PLACED ON SALE

Christmas givers whose generosity and love prompt them always to send beautiful gifts and who feel that this year they must turn all their giving to war relief purposes, can give to their friends and at the same time give to the Red Cross if they purchase the lovely knitting bags made by Mrs. H. F. Wichman and on sale this week at the store of H. F. Wichman & Co. in Fort street. These bags are all made of the most exquisite Japanese silk crepe, in beautiful designs and the loveliest combinations of color imaginable, and each one is lined with silk or satin of one color, bringing out or beautifully contrasting the predominating color of the crepe. There are only a dozen of the bags, and each one is entirely different from the others. Their prices range from $6.50 to $10.

Each bag is the personal work of Mrs. Wichman and every bag shows a perfection of finish that can be found only in the hand work of an artist in needlework.

All the bags are finished with gold or silver bobs and long silk tassels to match the linings. Mrs. Wichman supplied all the materials and the price she asks for some of the bags but little more than covers the actual cost of the materials. Her work is purely a labor of love.

FIRE DESTROYS GARAGES

Fire, believed to have started from an overturned kerosene can, destroyed the garage and servant quarters attached to the residence of John L. Fleming, Wyllie and Liliha streets, Saturday night. No one was injured. The alarm was turned in at 9 o'clock, but the fire had made too great a headway when the firemen arrived.

The garage owned by Dr. F. L. Morong, which adjoined the Fleming property, was also completely destroyed. No machines were in either garage at the time.

Mrs. Fleming expressed to the Star-Bulletin today her appreciation of the effective work of the firemen.

KUHIO TO FIGHT PURPORTED WILLS

Little doubt is expressed in local legal circles that Delegate J. K. Kalaniana'ole will contest the documents of 1909 and 1917 which purport to be the wills of the late Queen Liliuokalani. December 21 has been set as the day on which Circuit Judge Ashford will hear the petitions for the probate of the instruments.

The 1917 will, it is understood, is to be taken up first, and this presumably will be subjected to contest both by Kuhio and by the proponents of the will of December 2, 1909. Attorneys for John F. Colburn, named as executor in the document, will try to prove the validity of the document and the validity of the signature which, it has been contended, is not that of Liliuokalani.

Attorney L. Andrews, one of counsel for Colburn, said today that the witnesses to the will and other persons who witnessed the signing of the document, will be called. "Princess" Theresa Belliveau who, with her son and daughter, is given practically two-thirds of the estate in the 1917 document, and physicians may also be called. The attorneys also intend to call witnesses to prove that the queen was mentally competent to execute and sign the instrument.

METROPOLITAN NOT TO RAISE MEAT PRICES IF WHOLESALERS DON'T

Antone Louis, proprietor of the Metropolitan Meat Market, wants to assure his patrons, and the public in general, that the closing of the retail branch of the Territorial Market will not have any tendency to increase his prices, unless it should result in the Hawaii Meat company's raising its wholesale prices.

"I am the sole owner and director of the Metropolitan Market," said Mr. Louis this morning. "The Hawaii Meat company does not own any stock at all in this market, nor does any one but myself. Mr. Todd of the Territorial Market seems to think that I shall increase my prices now that the retail department of the Territorial Market is closed, but I shall do nothing of the sort. I want to serve my patrons to the best of my ability, not only with good meat and produce at all times, but with courtesy from all my employees, and with the fairest prices I can make commensurate with the cost of running my market."

"The only thing that would cause me to increase my prices over what they are now would be to have my purchasing price raised on me by the Hawaii Meat Company, Ltd."

The Hawaii Meat Company, Ltd., is composed of A. H. Rice, president; G. J. Waller, treasurer and manager; G. J. Waller, Jr., secretary. The commissioners of the board of agriculture and forestry, who ordered the retail branch of the Territorial Market closed, are A. H. Rice, president; W. M. Giffard, J. M. Dowsett, H. M. von Holt and A. L. C. Atkinson.
